CHURCH NOTES CONTINUED.
The interesting movement in the Scottish Presbyterian church, of which I wrote some time ago, goes vigorously on. At the recent general assembly in Edinburgh, the annual meeting of the Scottish Church Society was held, and its principles and policy made known to the large numbers who were gathered there. At a meeting of the Presbytery of Glasgow there arose an extended debate, in which the society was challenged, and charges of treachery, dishonesty and conspiracy were made against its leaders. Their defence, however, was so able and so strong that, as the outcome of the discussion, many prejudices were broken down, and the society's position was strengthened. Dr. John McLeod, one of its vice-presidents, in the course of a general reply to the accusatory arguments brought forth in the debate, was able to show that the society had not originated in any spirit of disloyalty and did not assert doctrines or promote practices other than those which were entirely within the liberties of Scotch Presbyterians. He denied that the movement had sprung out of a desire to imitate Episcopacy, but claims that it has been the growth of a root of Catholic belief which had never been extinguished by Presbyterianism. He held that the chief

Not skylark in the blue at morn,
Nor blackbird in the grove,
Nor throstle from the dew-wet thorn
Can match the voice I love;
And love, with trust that will not fail
Though time or sorrow, lies
Beneath the blue-veined lids that veil
My Irish sweetheart's eyes.

To mate her lips no rose is found,
Her neck is white as foam,
Her laughter has the joyous sound
Of mountain rills at home;
Though bent beneath her airy tread,
Each daisy from the grass
Will quickly lift its tender head
Ere to see her pass.

And naught she knows of guile or wrong,
More than the daisies do,
But, oh! her faith is deep and strong,
Her love for me is true;
And longingly one prayer I frame—
To breathe my native air,
To see green Ulster's hills, and claim
My Irish sweetheart there.

Straw a Valuable Article to Farmers.
Straw is an indispensable material at all seasons. As the straw stacks are now being made it is well to remind those who have placed but little value on straw that it will pay to stack straw carefully, or stow it under a shed. Bright, clean straw may be used as cattle feed when the hay is short, and it is a waste to let it go to rot.

KINGSTON.
The back down of the government in reference to the sale of the Canadian portion of the 1000 Islands is of considerable interest to Kingstonians. Public opinion is pretty well divided, many viewing it from a purely utilitarian standpoint. Prominent among men who advocate the sale of the islands or at least a good portion of them are the Folgers, Aldermen Elliott and Carson and other practical every day men, whose lives are little influenced by sentiment and gush. The chief quill driver in the "News" sanctum is the local leader of the party clamoring for more national parks. The loud protests of the press have succeeded in securing a postponement of the sale. The average business man would like to see the islands utilized so as to be an avenue for trade and

THE LAWYER'S PRIZE.

(BY THADDEUS.)
It is the early part of October. The golden rays of a setting sun are streaming through the windows of an elegantly furnished room adding to the beauty of the surroundings. In this enchanted spot sat Albert Travers, a young but enterprising lawyer, deep in thought.

He was a man of excellent character, was full of ambition, and one whom you would pronounce as destined to make for him self a distinction. He had graduated from college with honors but a short time previous and had opened an office in a thriving town. Already he was being recognized by the people of the town as one of great ability. He was of medium height, but his manly deportment placed him above his superiors in structure.

His reverie was broken by a knock at the door, and in reply to a summons a servant entered and handed a card bearing the name:

CARL WILBERFORCE,
337 Delaware Ave. Attica, N.Y.

The servant was instructed to bring him up and when he was shown into the room Travers arose to welcome his school companion whom he had not seen in years. They talked of how the time had been spent since they left school. From this the conversation was of school days and many happy reminiscences were recalled. Wilberforce said: "Bert, do you remember the boating accident which occurred on the lake, just below the school, when Miss Barclay nearly lost her life?"
There was silence for a moment and ation all sound, on the part of ministers and on the part of people, of a deeper and higher sense of what the church of God is, of what the vocation of the people really is, of what the place of the ministers of Christ in the church is, and of what the blessing is which the sacraments exhibit and convey to us." He did not believe that the growing neglect of religious worship would ever be met until they came to see that "the celebration of the holy communion was the distinctive characteristic worship of the church," and until they acted upon the principle asserted over and over again in their Confession of Faith, "that the Holy Communion was alike the supreme aspect of ordinary worship and the supreme means by which Christ and the benefits of new covenant were ministered to believers for their spiritual nourishment and growth in grace."

Since these discussions the society has issued a pamphlet giving some account of its aims. In very clear and temperate language the promoters of the movement have justified the purposes and methods of the society and made a most effective appeal for its support. It would be difficult to find anywhere anything more admirable than some of the statements of the church principles which they have made. The whole pamphlet is full of most valuable teaching, but we must content ourselves with a few words about "the divine basis, supernatural life, and heavenly calling of the church."

"The idea of the church entertained among us seems too generally something like this—that she is a society of individuals owning the authority of Christ and the value of the gospel, who associate themselves together that in acts of common worship and of mutual edification they may strengthen and comfort one another in their religious life. They come together of their own accord and they imagine that they may separate as taste or fancy dictates; that their relation to the blessings of the christian faith will not be worse when they stand alone than while they continue members of the common body; that, strictly speaking, there is no common body appointed by Christ himself. On their supposition, our Lord, when he was in the world, separated his disciples one by one from the world; He has continued so to separate them during all the centuries which have passed since then; and he bids each of them promote his own sanctification, his own growth unto perfection by whatever means christian wisdom, in the light of surrounding circumstances, may suggest. Thus they necessarily suppose that there is no supernatural life breathed into the soul at every moment by the living Christ. It follows also that in the apprehension of such persons there is no heavenly calling summoning the believer to stand at each instant within the sphere of heavenly things and to mould by them his every thought and affection and aim. The consequence is that multitudes of sincere followers of the redeemer have no conception of the church as his body, as a united whole, all the parts of which are bound, in the discharge of their several functions, to help each other for his glory, their own edification, and the world's good. Many even come to dislike the very words 'the church,' and to think that they are used as a substitute for Christ, as if it were within the possibility of things to conceive of the church without Christ being in her and she in Him. 'The members of the Scottish church Society desire with all earnestness to invite their brethren to consider whether views of this sort are not quite alien alike to the standards of the church of Scotland, to the convictions of christians in all past ages, and to the teaching of holy scripture; whether they do not bring the church out of the 'heavenly places' on the heavenly sphere in which she ought to live and act; whether they do not deprive her of her heavenly joy; whether they do not necessarily lead to her neglect of the highest aspect of her vocation of a holy priesthood in the Lord; and whether they do not send her forth to her work in the world without the consciousness that she is wielding heavenly weapons, and that she has at her head the author, the captain, the leader of her salvation. The church does not live in the past, she lives in the present, and she believes that in the possession of a true human nature her exalted head sympathizes with her and strengthens her as immediately as he sympathized with and strengthened His disciples when He tabernacled with them in the flesh.'"—From an American clergyman in Britain, in New York Churchman.

Fear kills more than cholera. Severe diarrhoea, purging, colic, cramps, etc., are often mistaken for cholera troubles. A few doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry will remove both the disease and the terror it inspires.

TAMWORTH.

J. A. Floyd, Tamworth, and Paul Weighill, of Sterling, are at Ruzzell Lake, where they will camp and fish for a few days.

A Lawn Social was given by the Epworth League at the residence of Miss R. Sherman's, which proved to be a success.

Mrs. S. B. Woods presented Stewart with a bounting baby girl. Congratulations.

W. Arlow is recovering slowly. J. R. Fraser and wife, and W. D. Mace and wife are out of town visiting friends.

Miss Vandewater, of Centreville, is visiting with Miss Mabel O'Brien.

Mr. J. Coulter, of Watertown, is home on a visit. Welcome home Johnnie.

Mr. Paul Wales is home on a visit from Sterling.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Rose have gone to Kingston to take a few holidays, where they intend visiting Montreal and the Thousand Islands.

D. B. Floyd is visiting friends in Watertown.

Miss E. Aylesworth is away visiting friends.

The night school is progressing favorably.

ENTERPRISE.

It is seldom you get anything to send from this place. Every person is too busy to write up the news of this enterprising village. Kindly give space for a few words from your humble servant.

The farmers report harvesting nearly done, and although the weather has been very dry they report an average crop.

Geo. Dunkley, (not rev.) of Picton, is visiting at J. D. Wagar's. He, Stanley, Wellington and Sid. are all at Varty Lake camping and report a good time. Look out for visitors, boys.

A man, his wife, and four small children struck this town penniless and hungry as reported and gained the sympathy of our citizens who provided lodging and food for several days, but lo and behold when daylight dawned upon the second day they had fled. The next lot of tramps will not fare so well. They could not stand prosperity.

There will be an ice cream social at the residence of J. D. Wagar's on Tuesday evening, 22nd inst. Come one, come all, and have a jolly time. Admission 15 cents. Proceeds for church purposes.

very nice but the great mass of laboring people are not the class who derive the benefit or enjoy the pleasures.

Last Sunday was a field day for missions, two distinguished visitors from the antipodes holding forth in our churches. Rev. Harper H. Coates, of Tokio, Japan, delivered two very interesting addresses on Japanese life and character, in the morning in Williamsville, and at night in Brock street Methodist church. Mr. Coates has great respect for Japanese intelligence and predicts a great future for the country, as the influence of christianity and civilization increases among the masses. The world famous missionary, Dr. Paton, of the new Hebrides mission, was the centre of attraction at the Presbyterian churches. The doctor has been over 30 years at the work and has had many thrilling experiences, having narrow escapes from being served up as dessert at some cannibalistic orgies. The doctor is of a venerable appearance and presents his subject with ease and fluency. He collected considerable money to carry on his noble work.

Wealth, elegance and fish stories are the predominating features of life at Long Island park this month. The meeting of the American Canoe Association bids fair to be one of the best in its history. The site selected is giving abundant satisfaction, every facility for enjoyment and comfort being obtainable. The affair is of a very exclusive character, no one outside of the charmed circle being allowed to land at the park, but of course this isn't a National Park.

The greater portion of the Northwest wheat crop will be shipped to Europe by way of Kingston this year. Last year Buffalo was the scene of operations and it is to be hoped that the facilities for transhipment will be sufficiently complete and satisfactory to ensure the permanence of the boom. It means money to the city and no doubt ere the season is over the necessity of a large elevator will become patent to the citizens at large. The Dominion Government should assist liberally in return for the very ardent and reliable supporter (under any circumstances) that Kingston has so kindly sent them. James Metcalfe give us some proof of your much vaunted influence. In the meantime let the city take the initiative.

DESERONTO.

On Tuesday of this week the East Toronto Cricket Club played a friendly game with the Deseronto Club, resulting in an easy victory for the visitors by eight wickets.

The Deseronto branch of the O.M.B.A. held a very successful moonlight excursion to Glenora on Thursday evening of last week. Everybody seemed to have a good time.

There is considerable sickness at present in town. Several cases of typhoid fever have been reported.

The Ella Ross took an immense crowd of people from Napanee and Deseronto to Belleville on Tuesday, 15th inst., it being the occasion of the celebration by the 'Prentice Boys and True Blues of Ontario of the Relief of Derry. They returned well pleased with the day's outing and with what they saw in Belleville.

Quite a number from Napanee were in town on Tuesday to witness the cricket match.

Mrs. Leslie Shannon, of Napanee, is visiting in town for a few days.

Misses Bertha Osborne and Mabel Root, of Belleville, are spending a portion of their holidays in Deseronto.

The Deseronto Football Club expect to go to Tweed on the 23rd inst., to play a team picked up around the county.

Deseronto Council, No. 282, R.T. of T., paid a fraternal visit to Trenton Council, No. 80, on Friday night of nothing but the ticking of the marble cased clock on the mantle could be heard.

The silence was broken by Traverse, who replied in a manner which showed that his mind had been wandering over the intervening years and that once more he saw the accident as vivid as on the day when it occurred. "Yes, and never shall I forget the sweet young face of Alice, as she was sinking before my eyes. It seemed as though I never should reach her. She had always acted indifferently towards me, but still I loved her and would have risked my life to save her. Just as she was sinking for the last time I reached her. It seems like ages ago. I have never seen or heard of her since. She kept company then with Jack Dean. He always had lots of money and gave her a good time. I wonder if she ever married him."

"No," replied Wilberforce. "She went with him for a long time, when he suddenly disappeared and he has never been heard of since. She did not appear to care much for you then."

The last sentence ran through Traverse like an electric current. He repeated it over and over again in his mind. "She did not appear to care much for me then."

That night he slept but little, for the sweet-faced Alice was in his thoughts.

The following day he received an invitation to attend a "musical" to be given by a friend of his living a few miles from town.

On the day and at the hour he was driven to an beautiful mansion where the festivities were to take place and was warmly welcomed by the hostess.

When he entered the drawing room his eyes rested on a tall and very handsome young lady at the opposite side of the room. His whole attention seemed riveted on this model of beauty.

When he was introduced to her and the hostess said Miss Barclay a thrill went through him for he knew he was now face to face with her who for many long days had been the subject of his thoughts, and whom he had often wished he could win for his own. At the sound of his name there arose to her face a color which adds to the beauty of the rose.

He looked into her eyes and seemed to read something more than friendship.

During the evening she was called upon to sing one of her favorite selections and while her sweet voice was pouring forth the rich melody, there was one in the room who thought of the day when he longed for her as his own, but which longings were seemingly in vain. His inmost soul was stirred, for it seemed that she was singing to him.

That night before the party broke up, under the twinkling stars was told the secret which he had so long wished to reveal, and her reply was such as brought gladness to his heart.

On the following June in a crowded church, amid flowers and foliage, a couple were united in marriage. It is needless to say who they were, or what assistance Carl Wilberforce rendered in the event of the securing of THE LAWYER'S PRIZE.

NAPANEE, FRIDAY, AUG. 18th, 1893.

The great Behring Sea arbitration is over and the decision given is mainly a victory for Canada and Great Britain. The seals are to be preserved in furs, however, to a large extent, and this means a victory in that particular for the United States. The preservation of the seals means the destruction of the salmon. Seals live on fish, and are fond of salmon, often taking but one bite out of a huge fish. To preserve the seal, whose pelt makes a garment for the rich, is the order of the day. The salmon may take care of themselves, when plentiful they are food for the poor.

A great many French-Canadians are returning to the Province now because of the closing of the mills in the New England States. About 300 arrived last week from Fall River and Lowell. They state that the times are very hard there, and in other towns, that many are actually in want. The notice given to the operatives in most cases is that the factories will remain closed from three to six weeks, and thereafter will run only three days a week. One of the C. P. R. conductors whose train brought many of these Canadians home, stated that the great majority of them have round-trip tickets, expecting to go back to New England when the clouds go by. "It is called a political scheme," said another railway man. "The manufacturers are all McKinley men, and they are turning their men out of work to frighten Cleveland and to give the Republican press an opportunity to raise the cry of 'blue ruin on account of free trade.'"

Does any intelligent man believe that Sir Charles Tupper had any faith in the Chignecto ship railway project when he made speeches in parliament in support of his resolutions granting a subsidy of $170,000 in aid of the scheme, and thus helped to "bunco" English capitalists, who naturally supposed that no Canadian, government would endorse or lend its credit to a scheme that was not likely to prove remunerative. Ministerial organs now tell us that the Chignecto scheme "was never promising." Why did they not say so when Sir Charles Tupper and the other Tory leaders were deluding British capitalists into putting their money into it? Why did they remain silent while the great bunco-steerer was getting his work in? The collapse of the Chignecto ship railway scheme will tend to impair Canada's good name and destroy the prospects of many bona fide Canadian enterprises. Three or four millions of dollars of British capital have been sunk in constructing a work of doubtful utility, which is to be abandoned before completion. Probably Sir Charles will claim credit for having humbugged London capitalists into throwing their millions into the Cumberland swamps. —FREE PRESS.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Evening News writes:—"I referred a few days ago to the use to which the Government palace cars are being appropriated this summer, and, according to the Halifax Herald, they are not only being used for transporting Ministers and Conservative members of Parliament about the country, but their sisters and cousins and aunts are joining in the picnicking, while the farmer is seen by the political favorites from the windows of these palace cars as they pass through his section of the country, harvesting his hay in the hope that he may secure a higher price for the product of his farm."

Cycling Up-Hill—A New Kind of Paint That Has Many Qualities to Recommend It—Railway Safety Clock.

A new hill-climbing device in the shape of a cycle attachment has appeared, which is expected to revolutionize cycle riding almost to the same extent as the perfection and attachment of the pneumatic tires to safety bicycles. The new device is far in advance of the most recent elliptical sprocket, and will probably supersede everything hitherto used. It consists of a simple attachment which is readily applied to the ordinary sprocket wheel, admitting of a reduction from the ordinary gear of a safety wheel to any proportion of the same. The gear is readily changed by withdrawing the cog wheels in the interior, of which there are six, from the larger to the smaller sprocket. This is accomplished by merely pressing a lever, which instantly throws the gear in or out of action. The additional weight of the attachment is two pounds. One of its advantages is that it entirely displaces the brake. Since the pneumatic tire has come into use there have been constant complaints that the brake has had the tendency to rip and tear the outside covering of the inflated tires. The new sprocket wheel enables a rider not only to dispense with a brake, but to keep his machine under perfect control upon the steepest incline. In a recent public test, the new sprocket was geared to sixty-four inches, and reduced by displacement to thirty-two inches for hill climbing. While the latter gear was satisfactory, experts who tried the new declared that better work could be done with a 45-gear.

and their families are enjoying the heat and the heated term. Commenting on a visit of a number of the western members of Parliament to the Province of Nova Scotia, in the Government car Cumberland, in the Halifax Herald (Government organ) says: "The party, consisting of Mr. McKay, M.P., wife, daughter and niece; Dr. Roome, M.P., and wife; Mr. Cargill, M.P., wife and daughters, and Mr. Masson, M.P., accompanied by Mr. Putnam, M.P., and wife, left Truro on Thursday in car Cumberland on express train for Sydney, Superintendent Price of the Government railway went with the party to New Glasgow, and Superintendent Laurie joined them there. The private car was ferried across the straits, and the train in charge of Conductor Rod McDonald, reached Sydney sharp on time. H. J. McDougall, M.P., and John A. McDonald, M.P., joined the party at Grand Narrows, and Mr. Gillies, M.P., was on the platform at Sydney to receive the visitors. On Friday David Keen, M.P., joined the party, and the day was spent in Sydney and North Sydney and at Glace Bay. The M.P.'s. freely expressed their surprise at the wonderful resources—mineral and agricultural—of our Province, as well as all our numerous and thriving industries. They were of opinion that a protective policy was all-important. Here is a pretty jolly party, and a pretty jolly bill the taxpayer of Canada will have to pay for this outing when it is footed up. Not only were the services of the Government palace cars called into requisition but the Government officials must be taken from their duties to show the party the attractions the Province offered. No wonder the M.P.'s expressed themselves of the opinion that a 'protective policy was all-important,' as it would be hard to find a revenue tariff that would bring enough money into the exchequer to enable the Government and their friends to indulge in all these luxuries. They do not believe in the theory of free trade, but they are pronounced advocates of a protective policy that will ensure them free trips at the people's expense throughout the country."

A Lucky Boy

Some boys have a great deal of luck. Probably the luckiest boy the world ever knew was the little Maidstone (England) boy, who had a very narrow escape while flying his kite some five or six years ago. Not looking where he was going, he stepped backwards and fell into a quarry forty feet deep, to the horror of some persons walking near. The string of the kite, however, being fastened round his wrist, the boy was lowered gently into the pit, the kite acting as a parachute, and instead of being dashed to pieces he escaped unhurt. Perhaps this means that he is destined to make his mark in the world. The great Lord Clive, when a youth, tried three times to shoot himself, but the pistol missed fire each time.—Harper's Young People.

NUMISMATICS IN CHINA.

Collection of Celestial Coins Which Date Back 4,200 Years.

China is the paradise of the numismatist. The collections of cash, according to Consul Edward Bedloe's report to the State Department, are something marvelous. They are small coins of bronze, brass, copper, or silver, ranging in intrinsic value from one-twentieth of a cent to 25 cents. The oldest of these coins on record appeared about 2300 B.C. Over 150,000 different kinds of cash are preserved in collections. Some are wonderful examples of coinage, but most of them are clumsy and coarse. The numismatist can work all his life, spend very little money, and leave to posterity thousands of coins. All he needs to do is to confine his work to the collection of cash, the small coins in brass and bronze, whose value ranges from one-tenth to one-fourteenth of a cent. Their workmanship varies, but it is usually very good.

Their shape to-day is like that of European coins, with the exception that through the center is a square hole through which the coins are strung together like beads. In the past, however, other forms were employed, including the square, triangle, heart, eclipse, shield, key, sword, and spear. The number of kinds is simply immense. They are referred to in the literature as far back as 250 B.C. "The earliest that I have heard of," said Consul Bedloe, "dates from the Tsin dynasty, which ruled from 266 to 207 B.C."

From that time until to-day these useful little coins have been used by every monarch, whether he was an emperor of the entire country or king of one of the petty principalities, into which, from time to time, the Chinese Empire was broken. There have been over 1200 occupants of the various thrones, royal and imperial. In addition to these regular issues, if such they may be called, there have been special issues from time to time and also special local issues. A wealthy mandarin in Canton is said to have the finest collection extant, containing 25,000 specimens of different kinds.

The cost increases as you go backward in time. The cash of this century can be secured at their nominal face value. Those of the eighteenth and seventeenth centuries bring from one cent to ten cents each. Those of the Han dynasties, from 206 to 100 A.D., bring $100 each when in a fine state of preservation. These true antiques are found in ancient tombs and ruins. Several hundred were discovered in Amoy this year in digging a grave, when the laborers broke into an old tomb several feet below the surface of the soil.

The coins lay in a pretty earthenware jar and encrusted with a thin layer of malachite that here and there had been changed by moisture into azurite. The coins were sold by the lucky coolies in the next twenty-four hours, and are said to have brought $1 a piece, an immense sum to men working for 12 cents a day. To succeed in collecting cash a person must be a fine Chinese scholar. The labor thereby involved is so severe as to preclude most collectors from indulging in the pleasure to any great extent.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

THE ART OF SWIMMING.

VALUABLE INSTRUCTIONS TO THE NOVICE.

Side Strokes and Racing Strokes Explained—The Plunge and Dive—How Diving May be Done Gracefully—How to Make the Descent With Railway Speed.

After the rudimental points in swimming have been mastered, such as keeping afloat in the water, back swimming and the ordinary breast stroke, the beginner may turn to the English trudgeon stroke or hand-over-hand swimming. In this the right and left sides work alternately. It is a very fast style, but exhausting, and cannot be kept up any length of time. Lie in the water in the same position as the breast-stroke and with your hands in front of your chest, strike out with one hand clear out of the water. When the arm is fully extended in the water make a scoop of your hand and pull it hard towards you as if to drag yourself along. At the same moment turn slightly to the right or left side, whichever arm you have extended, and give a vicious kick with the leg. While drawing your hand through the water to the thigh, bring your other hand forward for its stroke and the leg up for its kick, and as soon as the stroke is finished turn to that side slightly and repeat, alternating the strokes. As said, it is a very fast style for a short distance.

THE SIDE STROKE

is the best mode of swimming and is used by all fast swimmers, amateur and professional, in their contests, they having what is called a racing side stroke. As its name implies, the stroke is made while lying in the water on the side. For endurance it is really the only style. A swimmer who can use both right and left sides can swim miles without any great distress. While the frog-like breast stroke really seems to be a man's natural way of water progression, the side stroke is far ahead of it in naturalness and easy progress. In breast-swimming a big strain is put upon the neck, keeping it out of its normal position; the body also offers much resistance to the water in chest-swimming, while in going side ways through the water this resistance is greatly reduced. Now

AS TO HOW IT IS DONE.

It is a rather complicated stroke. Make a breast stroke in the usual manner and, as the arms are drawn back, turn on your side—not exactly clear on your side, but just a trifle inclined on the chest. The legs are then drawn up, the upper one crossing over the under and being in a position in which the kneecap of the under almost touches the back of the calf of the upper. Take a wide sweep with the legs, keeping the upper one about an inch under water. As they kick out the legs resemble nothing so much as the opening and closing of a pair of scissors. As you give the kick shoot out both hands past the head to their fullest extent. The under arm will reach further to the front. After the legs have come together, toes pointed back, send down your upper hand, slightly hollowed, in a straight line past your face and down to your thigh. 'Finish' of the upper hand inside stroke. Directly it reaches the thigh the elbow must be bent, but not so far as to show out of the water, and the hand must steal up to the breast, from whence a fresh stroke is taken.

AS THE UPPER HAND

reached the thigh the under hand should have swept through the water, the palm turned downward, until it reached almost of the bottom ribs by a semi-circle.

New Method of Making Car Wheels.

An unusual method of making wheels for cars has recently been brought before railway men. Wherever it is desired to have reliable wheels steel tires are almost universally used, with paper, wrought or cast iron centers. Cast iron centers are the cheapest form of any as regards first cost, but it is rather difficult to form a good connection between the tire and the center. In the new method of manufacture a stock of tires is made up complete. The molds for the center of the wheel are then cut up, leaving a space for placing the tire in the mold so as to form a part of it. The mold is next opened and the tire, heated to a red heat is placed in position. The mold is then closed and the molten metal for the center immediately poured in. The result is said to be a practically perfect union of the steel and cast iron, forming a solid wheel which has the advantage of a durable steel rim and a cheap body.

given the under hand should have stolen up for another stroke. This style is like the schottische lesson your dancing master gives you: 'One, two, three; one, two, three; one, two, three.' Just keep this in mind and repeat it with the strokes. 'One' is the legs, 'two' is the upper hand, and 'three' is the under hand. Get these strokes working without friction, working the 'one-two-three' refrain, and pretty soon you'll be a racer. In this side-stroke always swim as level as possible, near the surface of the water, with no part of the body except the tip of the uppermost shoulder in view. The face should be half immerse, breath being taken through the nostrils when the kick is given.

Of course you will want to PLUNGE AND DIVE as soon as you are expert at swimming. Diving is a very pleasurable as well as useful accomplishment. The first thing to learn is to keep your eyes open under water. Just sink yourself and try to discern some object in your hand. Don't be afraid of the salt water hurting your eyes. It will have no smart. When you can keep your eyes open under water get an egg, clam shell or some white object, and after throwing it in water not too deep, try to bring it up. Two things will surprise you. First, the enlarged size of the object and the difficulty in getting to it. Try and get it head-foremost. It will seem hard at first, but a little practice will do the trick. Then throw two or three into the water and see how many you can bring up. Smaller objects, down to coin, can then be practiced upon.

IN LEARNING TO DIVE, the beginner must disabuse himself of the idea that the crash into the water is going to hurt him. At first, indeed, it will be painful at times, as his awkward falls will make him smart and sting. It is best to begin at a very low height, say a couple of feet from the water. Stoop over until you are nearly double, with your hands above your head, and then slip or rather fall into the water. Practice this constantly until the proper attitude is attained and then gradually increase the height. Then go back to the low height and begin to take a short run before making the head foremost plunge, keeping your hands at your side until you launch out. The legs should be kept right. The hands form a short wedge, which cuts its way into the water, making room for your body. The hands also act as a rudder, and the further the palms are turned back the sharper the curve takes before emerging. The eyes should be closed on striking the water and the neck stiff, with the back hollowed. Once a swimmer gets up to ten or fifteen feet he will not be afraid to dive any distance within reason. The more boldly a swimmer dives the better chance there is of clean work. It is just as easy to learn to diver gracefully as it is to begin clumsily, a habit which may stick to you.

IN DIVING FEET FIRST, stand as erect as possible, head back, toes pointed, knees stiffened, arms rigid by the side, as close as possible. Then give a slight spring, hold yourself straight and go down, holding in your breath. If you do not stir in mid-air, you will cleave the water straight and true. Going down to the bottom, you can stop yourself any time by spreading out your arms and legs, when a few kicks will send you to the surface. After this is learned, you can hold your arms perpendicularly above your head and go down through the air with rail-way speed.

THE BEHRING SEA DECISION.

EVERY CONTENTION OF THE UNITED STATES KNOCKED OUT.

A Compromise Verdict Which Compels the United States to Pay Damages to Canadian Sealers, But Establishes a Close Season and a Sixty-Mile Limit Around the Breeding Islands.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—At 9 o'clock yesterday the seven Behring Sea arbitrators held a private session in a room used by officials of the Department of Foreign Affairs at the Quai d'Orsaix.

At 11 o'clock the arbitrators re-assembled in the room in the Foreign Office in which the public sessions of the tribunal had been held.

Baron De Courcel, the president of the tribunal, then delivered to the agents of the United States and Great Britain original copies of the decision signed by all the arbitrators.

The session terminated amid mutual congratulations and expressions of good feeling. After a preamble stating the case submitted for decision the award runs as follows:

What exclusive jurisdiction and what exclusive rights in the seal fisheries did Russia exercise prior to accession of Alaska by the States?

The answer by all but Senator Morgan was that Russia claimed by a ukase, issued in 1821, jurisdiction in Behring Sea to the extent of 100 miles off coast, but in the course of negotiations which led to the treaties of 1824-1825 she admitted that her jurisdiction should be restricted to cannon shot from shore, and from that time Russia never asserted or exercised any exclusive jurisdiction in Behring Sea or any exclusive rights to the seal fisheries beyond territorial waters.

Britain Made No Concessions to Russia.

The second question: How far were these claims of jurisdiction on the part of Russia to the seal fisheries recognized and conceded by Britain?—was answered by all but Senator Morgan. Britain did not recognize or concede any claim on the part of Russia outside territorial waters.

Had No Exclusive Rights.

The third question was: Was Behring Sea included in the phrase Pacific Ocean used in the treaty of 1825 between Britain alone which shall exclude other nations from the pursuit of fur seals.

British Claims.

1. Freedom of the seas for the benefit of all the world.

2. That rights of property and rights in relation to property be confined within the limits consecrated by practice and founded on general expediency in the interest of mankind, the three-mile limit.

3. That apart from agreement no nation has the right to seize the vessels of another on the high seas in times of peace for offences against property, excepting piracy.

4 and 5. That any regulations to be established should have just and equitable regard to all the interests concerned.

The Arguments.

It must have been noted by those who followed the arguments of the American counsel in Paris that their contentions changed as the argument proceeded. They first set up the claim to ownership and control of the Behring Sea, or, in Latin phrase, the mare clausum theory. When the fallacious character of this contention was exposed they found a new argument in the contra bonos mores theory, that is, that pelagic sealing was contrary to good manners, but when it was shown that "good manners" had nothing to do with the case, the Americans started another theory. They asserted a property right in all seals found in the waters of Behring sea, alleging that they were all born on the Pribyloff Islands, which are owned by the United States, and that these seals on leaving the rookeries were possessed of an animus revertendi, that is, an intention of returning to these same rookeries. Thereupon it was proved that all these seals are not born on the Pribyloff rookeries, and that there is no evidence that the seals invariably return to the islands on which they were born. As Sir Charles Russell facetiously observed, it would be interesting to ascertain whether the seals possessed an intention to return to the sea or to the land.

E. J. Phelps, on behalf of the United States, also gravely asserted "the right of the seals to their blameless life." Great Britain on the contrary "stuck to her text" throughout the whole argument.

Satisfaction at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—The decision of the Court of Arbitrators in the Behring Sea matter appears to give general satisfaction to the members of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations, which committee had all those questions in charge when the treaty was before the Senate.

Senator Butler stated that it he understood the brief despatch that came early in damages to the Canadian sealers which they have seized.

The opinion here is that Great Britain and Canada have every reason to feel pleased at the result of the arbitration and the award, and general satisfaction is expressed that the matter is finally settled.

Press Opinions.

Hamilton Spectator: The decision seems to be about the right thing. It will give Canadian sealers the sweep of the sea, barring a little spot 120 miles in diameter, for nine months in the year, and these nine months include all the time the seals are in the open sea. The seals leave the islands in the end of October or middle of November and do not get back before May 1.

Canada has reason to be well satisfied with the result of the arbitration.

Thinks America Will Accept the Verdict.

The Standard says: We are sure America will accept the award in cheerful good humor and apply it in perfect good faith. Nothing was left untried by either side to win the verdict, and in pronouncing the decision the tribunal has only affirmed and applied one of the best known and hitherto most unchallenged principles of international law.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Bennis T. Smith were married only two weeks when he left her. She began suit for a separation.

Bennis T. Smith is the son of Robert B. Smith, the wealthy railroad man, who lives at No. 104 West Seventy-Fourth-street.

Mrs. Smith was Miss Nannie M. Macgavock. She lived, before her marriage, in a flat at No. 258 West Forty-Third-street. She is a tall, shapely blonde, with plump face, light-brown hair and large blue eyes. She says she is 23 years old, but looks about 28.

Young Smith is 22 years old. He married Miss Macgavock on July 10 last, and went to share her flat with her.

The marriage was a ceremonial one and was performed by the Dr. W. F. Wilson, pastor of the Bloomingdale Methodist Episcopal Church.

The newly-wedded pair had two weeks of bliss, "short, but sweet," as the bride described it yesterday afternoon.

The Smith family was surprised when the promising heir went off and got married. They did not know the fair Miss Macgavock and wondered who she was. They did not like young Bennis going and getting and Russia, what rights, if any, in the Behring Sea were held and exclusively exercised by Russia after the said treaty? The unanimous answer was that Behring Sea was included in the phrase Pacific Ocean, and it was held by all except Senator Morgan that no exclusive rights were held or exercised by Russia outside territorial waters after the treaty.

The Rights of Russia.

The fourth question was: Did not all the rights of Russia pass unimpaired to the States? The unanimous answer was yes.

The Three-Mile Limit.

The fifth question was: Have the United States any and what right of protection of property in fur seals when found outside the three-mile limit? Answer by all but Senator Morgan was that the United States have not any right of protection of property when seals are found outside the three-mile limit.

The regulations as a body are established by the votes of Hannen and the three neutral arbitrators.

The Result in Brief.

The first question establishes a zone 60 miles around the Pribyloff Islands.

The second establishes a close season in the Northern Pacific from the first day of May to July 31.

The third requires that sailing vessels will only be allowed to engage in fishing with canoes and boats included.

The fourth requires that each vessel have a Government license and carry a distinguishing flag.

The fifth requires the log to show particulars of the sealing.

The sixth allows firearms, except shot-guns, outside Behring Sea.

The seventh requires that the Governments control the fitness of the men engaged in sealing.

The eighth exempts the Indians on the coast from restrictions when hunting with canoes and boats.

The ninth makes the regulations permanent, but orders them to be re-submitted for examination every five years.

The finding of the facts in reference to the seizure of vessels are of such a nature as to render it incumbent on the American Government to indemnify the owners of British vessels.

The Arbitrators Thanked.

Baron de Courcel, after the decision was rendered, thanked the arbitrators for the close and intelligent attention they had brought to bear upon the case.

Lord Hannen and Senator Morgan, in replying to the president of the tribunal, acknowledged his courtesy and hospitality. The American arbitrators believe that the regulations decided upon by the tribunal mean practically the end of pelagic sealing, and that they are better terms than were heretofore offered to the United States by Great Britain as a settlement of the questions involved.

Cause of the Arbitration.

The treaty under which the tribunal of arbitrators was appointed, realizing that the governments of the United States and Great Britain were desirous to provide for an amicable settlement of the questions which had arisen between them concerning the jurisdictional rights of the United States in the waters of Behring Sea, and concerning also the preservation of the fur seal in or habitually resorting to the said sea, and the rights of the citizens and subjects of either country as regarded the taking of fur seals, agree to submit the questions to a tribunal of arbitration, to be composed of seven arbitrators, two named by Great Britain, two by the United States, one by France, one by Italy and one by Sweden and Norway.

The Points Contested.

These are the points that were contested before the Behring Sea arbitration:

United States Claims.

1. Dominion and right to legislate against foreigners in two-thirds of the Behring Sea.
2. A right of property in wild animals which resort for a certain season of the year only to United States territory, derive no sustenance therefrom, and during the greater part of the year live many hundreds of miles away from that territory in the ocean.
3. The right to protect the alleged right of property by search, seizure and condemnation of the ships of other nations.
4. Failing the establishment of the right of property, the United States claims a right to protect the seals in the ocean, and to apply, in assertion of that right, the like sanctions of search, seizure and condemnation.
5. Failing these assertions of right, the United States claims that rules shall be framed in the interest of the United States.

the day after, the award gave even more than he expected. "I never believed," said he, "that the contention of the U.S. that the Behring Sea was a closed sea could be maintained. The sea was too large a body of water for such a claim to be exercised over and necessarily, the court having decided against us on that point, the others incorporated under the first four sections of article six of the treaty fall with it."

Americans Thoroughly Pleased.

PARIS, Aug. 16.—In an interview given this evening Justice Harlan expressed the opinion in agreement with John N. Foster that the regulations specified by the tribunal would check pelagic sealing and thus go far towards accomplishing one of the chief aims of the United States.

The general result of the arbitration, he thought, was far in advance of anything that the United States had demanded. The members of the tribunal reserved the right to prepare and file individual opinions in the case at any time before next January.

Justice Harlan will proceed at once to Switzerland to prepare there his opinion. He will sail with his family for America probably Sept. 27. Senator Morgan will leave Paris on Thursday and will sail on the steamer New York from Southampton on Saturday. Sir Charles Russell, British counsel, and Charles H. Tupper, British agent, have left for London.

All the Englishmen connected with the tribunal are exceedingly reticent with their opinions of the decision, and apparently are disappointed because it was not more unfavorable to the United States.

In bidding the members of the tribunal good-bye, Baron De Courcel expressed great satisfaction with the proceedings of the tribunal, and remarked the exceptional harmony and good feeling which prevailed throughout the deliberations.

Canada Objects to the Regulations.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—The Daily News says editorially of the Behring Sea decision: "The decision is substantially in favor of the case advanced by England. Sir Charles Russell's powerful arguments convinced the arbitrators that we legally were in the right and the Americans were in the wrong. The American arbitrators and Sir John Thompson refuse to assent to the regulations. We have not the slightest doubt, however, that these regulations are wise and just. Even were they not it would be our duty to obey them and we trust that no difficulty will be raised by the Canadian Government."

England Rejoices With Canada.

The Daily Telegraph says: "England may rejoice with Canada at the decision, which is an equitable triumph of the new and peaceful international principle—reason in the place of force. Even had the arbitration resulted in favor of America we should have submitted with best grace to the decision which removes a fertile source of bickering between the two countries."

The Times says: "On the broad question of international law the decision is wholly in our favor. In framing the regulations we have been somewhat less successful. The rules are conceived in a spirit according, closely enough with that embodied in the British proposals, but it is probable that some of them will cause dissatisfaction in Canada. The Americans can hardly be expected to receive the decision with equal contentment, but we know our kinsmen too well to doubt for a moment that they will honestly and loyally accept the judgment of the tribunal to which they have voluntarily agreed to submit their claims."

The Amount of Damages Reserved.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Concerning the matter of damages referred to by The Pall Mall Gazette Paris correspondent, the Paris representative of The Central News telegraphs: "The question of the amount of damages for seizures of British vessels in Behring Sea was not submitted to the arbitrators, but by mutual consent was reserved by treaty for future negotiations."

England Has Cause For Congratulation.

Sir Charles Dilke said this evening that England had every reason to congratulate herself in view of the Behring Sea decision.

Sir Charles Tupper's Opinion.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Sir Charles Tupper said the award was about as expected; it was natural that arbitrators should seek something in the nature of a compromise. The fact made the position of Canada on the question of rights impregnable. Outside of this the general desire to preserve the seal from extinction enabled the court to meet the protests of the United States on this point.

The United States were now liable to pay married without telling any of them anything about it, and without inviting any of them to the wedding.

Papa Smith began making inquiries. Then young Smith left his wife. That was on July 24, and she has not seen him since. Whether he left of his own accord or was induced to do so by his father is a matter of doubt.

He went to his father's cottage at Elberon. From there he accompanied the old man to Boston, and from there to Toronto and Montreal, Canada, where he was when last heard from.

Young Mrs. Smith became tired of being left alone and called upon Lawyer A. H. Hummel, asking him to begin some kind of proceedings.

Papers were drawn up and a search for young Smith begun. As he was first in New Jersey, then in Massachusetts and finally in Canada the papers were never served upon him. But he heard of them.

He wrote his wife several long and piteous appeals, imploring her not to sue for a divorce.

Mrs. Smith eventually relented. Negotiations for a settlement were begun and Mr. Hummel discontinued the suits. He declined yesterday to say on what terms the matter was adjusted.

TWO RAILROADS TIED UP.

The Rolling Stock of One Seized—The Other Closed by a Strike.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16.—The creditors of the Great Northwest Central Railway have placed judgments in hands of sheriff at Brandon and he has seized engines, cars and other rolling stock of railway. Seizure was made Monday and notice has been served on connecting lines to refrain from moving any of the stock of the Great Northwest Central.

Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench today decided they had no power to authorize the receiver for Manitoba and Northwestern to pay the employees their overdue wages for April, May and part of June.

This decision was due to opposition of English bond-holders of the road to pay the wages. Accordingly every employee on the railroad is now out and the road is tightly tied up.

The result of the strike will paralyze all passenger and freight traffic between Portage la Prairie, Yorkton, Rapid City and Bismarck and will put an end to all mail service and telegraph communication.

COMING HOME.

The Premier, Sir Charles and C. H. Tupper Sail To-Morrow.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—Sir John Thompson, Hon. C. H. Tupper and Sir Charles Tupper are returning to Canada this week. They sail on the Allan Line steamship Parisian on Thursday.

Six of the British tenant farmers delegates invited by the Canadian Government to investigate the farming conditions in Canada also sail by the Parisian. Eight other tenant farmers will follow shortly.

Lying Telegrams Denied.

Hon. C. H. Tupper denies the telegrams sent from Ottawa by the Dalziel Agency and published widely here. He says that the three Dalziel statements are absolutely false, first: that dissensions exist in the Dominion Cabinet, second, that the acting Minister of Marine, Hon. John Cortigan, has introduced reforms in the department in Hon. Mr. Tupper's absence, and third, that Hon. Mr. Tupper is in Chicago.

A Conservative Victory.

LONDON, Aug. 16.—An election was held in the Hereford parliamentary district yesterday to fill a seat made vacant by the retirement of W. H. Grenfell, Gladstonian. The seat was won by Radcliffe, Conservative.

Fourteen Drowned in Hungary.

BUDA PESTH, Aug. 16.—The damage caused by the floods in Galicia and Northern Hungary amounts to many millions of florins. At Vorosca a workshop was swept away and 14 employees were drowned. Sixty persons are said to have been drowned at Ryemanow, Galicia.

Drowned At Chatham.

CHATHAM, Aug. 16.—A young farm laborer named John Storm was drowned yesterday afternoon while bathing in the Thames River.

A Kingsville Sawmill Burned.

KINGSVILLE, Ont., Aug. 16.—Between 3 and 4 yesterday morning a fire broke out in J. W. Green & Sons' sawmill, which was burned down together with about 150 cords of wood. The lumber was mostly saved. Loss over $2000, insured for $400. Cause of fire is a mystery.

ESTRANGED HIS WIFE'S LOVE

AND NOW THE HUSBAND SEEKS $5000 DAMAGES.

A Queen City Jeweler Served With a Writ by a Cabinetmaker—The Defendant Claims That He Is the Party Most Injured in the Affair.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—By the alleged alienation of his wife's affections, Chester O'Brien says he has suffered $5000 worth of pain of mind, at least that is the amount he claims from Jeweler Frederick Roberts, who he says acted as a gay Lothario and despoiled his home.

Mr. Roberts admits that he was attentive to the lady, who, some years ago, promised to love, honor and obey Chester O'Brien and him alone. He denies that he alienated her affections from her lawful spouse, and declares that Mr. O'Brien never was possessed of the wifely love which that gentleman now claims was worth $5000 to him.

The story is a simple one. About eight years ago Chester O'Brien and Isabella, his wife, came to Toronto from the little town of Uxbridge. Chester was a cabinetmaker, and intended to carve out a fortune, and incidentally, in the course of trade, a few chairs and tables. He rented a flat above the jewelry store of Frederick Roberts at 186 Queen-street west. The young wife was yet in her teens and Mr. Roberts also was a youth and susceptible. He called to receive the rent every month, and soon discovered that his tenant was fair to look upon. Years passed by and Mr. Roberts grew into the habit of stealing for a few minutes' away from his watches and clocks to visit and console the fair and lovely tenant. Mr. O'Brien's work kept him away all day and Isabella was lonely. They became good friends, so Mr. Roberts says, and five years ago were very intimate. The jeweler says that Mrs. O'Brien complained that "hubby" was unkind to her and that he consoled her as best he could.

A year ago Mr. O'Brien removed to a modest cottage in rear of 37 Huron-street. But this did not put an end to the pleasant acquaintance of Mr. Roberts and Mrs. O'Brien. The jeweler called at the residence and he says that there was no abjection made by the husband. But like a thunderbolt from a clear sky there came yesterday morning a legal document in the shape of a writ endorsed "O'Brien v. Roberts," in which the plaintiff claimed the pecuniary sum of $5000 as

HE USED DEFACED STAMPS

A TORONTO MAN'S USELESS IN-GENIOUS EXPLANATION.

J. Abner Holt, Charged With Using Postage Stamps That Had Previously Done Service, Is Convicted and Fined $30 and Costs—A Warning to Many.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Of late a number of letters have been specially sent to the Postoffice Department bearing previously used postage stamps. The Postmaster-General is having a sharp look out kept for offenders of this class, so that this mean and petty method of defrauding the revenue may be stamped out as speedily as possible.

A few days since a letter carrier was dismissed from service for placing old stamps on newspapers.

Mr. J. Abner Holt of eviction fame was yesterday fined $30 or 30 days for re-using a 3-cent stamp. On July 24 Inspector Sweatnam's attention was drawn to two letters, the stamps on which were ascertained after a minute examination to have been formerly used. On opening the letter the signature of J. A. Holt was found appended to them, and as this is a contravention of the stamp law, Mr. Sweatnam promptly informed Mr. Curry, the Crown Attorney. Mr. Holt was called upon and explained that the stamps had been placed near his ink bottle, and drops of the black fluid had accidentally fallen on them, and he had tried to erase them with a knife. But his statement was proven to be incorrect, as one stamp had been scraped and the other on which the markings were very indistinct had not been tampered with, and through a microscope the mark of a foreign stamp could be seen and the letters I. N. As the City Crown Attorney did not wish to appear vindictive Holt was only charged with one violation of the law, and the above sentence was passed upon him. He was given time to pay the fine.

HURT BY THE TROLLEY.

Mr. Thomas Beatty Knocked Down and Severely Injured.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Yesterday morning Mr. Thomas Beatty, one of the best known residents of Leslieville, was struck by a trolley car and was badly injured about the head. The accident occurred in this wise. Mr. Beatty was standing on the platform of a west-bound trolley, and immediately after passing Saultier-street he jumped to the street while the car was moving, and walked round the end of the car, intending to cross to the south side of the street.

used. O'Brien & Roberts, in which the plaintiff claimed the penal sum of $5000 as damages.

When a reporter called upon Mr. Roberts that young gentleman was very much disturbed in mind.

"Why, O'Brien promised me that there should be no publicity about the matter," he said. "The charges in the writ are all right, I suppose, with the exception that it was O'Brien himself who alienated his wife's affections by his treatment of her. It is true that I became acquainted with her while they were my tenants. I was pretty intimate with her."

"You intend to defend the suit?"

"I cannot say as yet. If I do O'Brien cannot get a cent from me. He knew what was going on, and after he did so he asked me to go and board with his wife. Why, on Monday he came to me and offered to allow his wife to live with me on payment of a sum of money."

"What was the sum he wanted for his wife?"

"Well, it was much less than $5000. It was not one-tenth of that amount. However, I did not accept his offer, and so he brought this suit. I suppose that he wants me to settle it."

A visit was made to the cottage at 37 Huron-street, but it was bare and tenantless. Mr. O'Brien had just left and taken his wife and household goods with him. None of the neighbors knew where he had gone nor the reason for his departure.

LOST HIS LEG.

An Unfortunate Accident at Orillia Station.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—Among the excursionists who went with the Ancient Order of Foresters to Orillia yesterday was Robert Turner, a young tinsmith employed by Irwin & Sons of this city. As the train was leaving Orillia on its way back he attempted to board it, but slipped and fell, and the wheels went over one of his legs, cutting it off six inches above the knee. He was carried to a hotel near by.

Fatal Runaway.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 16.—At noon yesterday there happened a lamentable accident. Henry James, in company with four other men, was driving on the Canifon-road and racing horses. James' horse ran away and he was thrown out striking his head. He was so seriously injured that recovery is impossible.

A Boy Burned to Death.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 16.—Harvey Vance, a boy aged 5 years, whose parents live in Hungerford, was burned to death as the result of throwing coal oil into the stove.

Attempted Suicide Twice.

HAMILTON, Aug. 16.—Charles T. Hibbert, an Englishman, 27 years of age, attempted to end his life in a sensational manner yesterday afternoon. He deliberately put the muzzle of a revolver in his mouth and pulled the trigger. That he was not instantly killed is a miracle, but he still lives, and the chances are that he will recover.

Of respectable and rich parents, he left London, Eng., a year and a half ago with a view of learning farming in this country. He had a letter of introduction to J. W. James, 60 Cannon-street west, who did what he could for the young man. He went to work on a farm near Burlington when he first came here, but he was not strong enough to stand it, and he returned to the city. He was willing to work, and tried his hand at various occupations, but could find none to suit him. Not long ago he went to work as a laborer on the street railway. He labored for one day, and when he returned to his boarding house at night he was taken ill and was confined to his bed for several days.

For some time past Hibbert has been very despondent and showed signs of mental weakness. As he had threatened to take his own life, Mr. James took his revolver away from him.

On Sunday night Hibbert took a dose of rough-on-rats. The quantity was not sufficient to kill him.

Hibbert had recovered from the effects of the poison yesterday, but he was still despondent. "I do not want to live," he said. During the forenoon he went out and purchased a revolver, but he was careful not to let the folks in the house see it.

Late in the afternoon Hibbert went to his room and shot himself. He was unconscious when found. The bullet entered the side of the neck, and after Hibbert was taken to the hospital the doctors probed for it without success. Dr. Olmsted has hopes that he will recover.

The revolver, a seven-shooter, was found on the floor of the bedroom. One chamber was empty. Hibbert would not tell where he purchased it.

to the south side of the street. Apparently he did not see or hear an eastbound trolley car, for just as he was in the middle of the south track he was knocked down. As the car was slowing up he was not run over, but his head was struck by the guard. He received a deep gash from the right eye to the ear, a nasty scalp wound, his breast was scraped and he had a bad shaking up.

He was taken to the General Hospital in the ambulance and his wounds cared for. He is resting easily, but as he is between 60 and 70 years of age there are slight doubts as to his recovery. The shock will be more serious in its effects than the wounds.

Two months ago the injured man was thrown out of a buggy by a runaway horse and did not recover from the shock for some time.

Mr. Beatty is a wealthy man and resides on the corner of Queen-street and Greenwoods - avenue. He is widely known in the city. He formerly kept the hotel at Eglinton, of which the late John Oulcott became proprietor. He also ran the Commercial Hotel in this city and for many years has been one of the most prominent men in East Toronto.

LOOKING FOR A BEETON MERCHANT

A Capias Issued For J. C. Richardson By J. D. King & Co.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—On Saturday Edgar & Malone, at the instance of J. D. King & Co., obtained a capias for Joseph C. Richardson, recently of Beeton.

Richardson was the partner who had the "experience" in the firm of Richardson & MacDonald, general merchants. He was a leading citizen of the village and prominent in church circles.

The firm recently sold out to one Andrews and fire a day or two later gutted the premises. Richardson's residence adjoined the store and his effects were burned, together with some of the firm's books.

An assignment followed, and as Richardson presented a statement in February last showing an $8000 surplus and now the assets will not yield more than eight cents on the dollar, J. D. King & Co., one of the largest creditors, have concluded that an investigation is desirable.

But Richardson has not been found. He formerly resided in Uxbridge and Sutton.

WAS HE A VICTIM OF FOUL PLAY?

An Enquiry to Be Held Into the Death of Charles Doyle.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Rumors have been flying broadcast through Toronto Junction about Charles Doyle of King's-road, who died eight days ago from injuries received by running into a post. Several friends of the deceased, who claim that Doyle did not die through the result of the accident but met his death from foul play, laid the case before County Crown Attorney Dewart, who thought that the circumstances surrounding Doyle's demise demanded an inquest. In pursuance of this order Coroner Clendenan swore in a jury last night in Heydon's Hotel. The body has been exhumed and the post-mortem examination will be held this morning and the inquest this evening. The body is very much decomposed and the doctors will have a task making the examination.

A reporter had a conversation with Dr. Clendenan after the preliminaries had been gone through last night, and he said that the story presented to County Crown Attorney Dewart was as follows: On the morning before Doyle's death he was carousing with some members of the sewer gang in a not very reputable resort, and they claim that he got into an altercation and was kicked by one of the gang.

pedestrians to pass.

Threshers Measures Must be Inspected.

The inland revenue department having last fall secured convictions against manufacturers of threshing machines for sending out with the machines measures which were uninspected and stamped, it may be expected that weights and measures officers will now be keeping a sharp lookout for the measures used by the grain threshers. It will be remembered that in the test cases made by the department, the courts held that what the manufacturers called boxes were measures within the meaning of the Weights and Measures Act, and that the grain threshers were "traders" and therefore subject to the provisions of the act.—Intelligencer.

COAL!

Notwithstanding the assertion of some people that I am no longer a "public benefactor" since my business is established, I desire to inform the community generally that it was my view when starting business to reduce the price of coal so that mechanics and laboring men would not be compelled to pay more than a reasonable living profit on the article, and I intend as long as I remain in business to study the interests of my fellow citizens, as well as my own. To prove my assertion I give facts and figures below which defy contradiction. At the beginning of my first year in business there was an arrangement on the part of the old coal dealers to sell coal at $6.25 per ton cash. I, that year, brought the coal down to $5.50, thereby giving the public a saving of 75c per ton. That year and the present compare as follows:

	1890	1893
Coal per net ton F. O. B. Oswego	$3.66	$4.28
Freight	25	41
Unloading	18	18
Screening	10	10
Loss per ton in screenings	16	19
Delivery	30	30
	$4.65	$5.42
Selling price	5.50	6.25
	85	83

From which should be deducted regular business expenses, interest, insurance, rent and office expenses 34 34

Profit per ton 51c 49c
From the above can be seen at a glance that the profit was 2 cents more per ton my first year than the present one. Other items of cost might justly be added to the above, such as appliances for handling, proper sheds, repairs, etc., which would all combine to further reduce the profits. Saying nothing of bad debts, and shortage. Any intelligent person can see the profit in the coal business, where a large stock is carried from season to season is not sufficient to induce many to invest the necessary amount to carry on the business, (entailing much risk) with a possible profit of 9 per cent. Had I assisted in keeping the profit up to win 20 per cent. as it was when I began business I would be exacting an exorbitant price, as I am now UNJUSTLY ACCUSED of doing. I understand there is a cargo of coal being brought to town for which orders are solicited before the 20th inst. at $5.50 PER TON ON THE DOCK, which with present freight rates and other conditions is no better value than I can give you for FIRST-CLASS, PROPERLY SCREENED coal placed in your bins in good order at $6.25 per ton, or well screened and weighed for you in the yard for $6.00 per ton. Bear in mind that I guarantee to supply my customers the whole season as will be impossible in the other case. My coal is this year the best I ever had, LIGHT, DRY AND UNDERCOVER. Thanking my many friends for their liberal patronage during the past and assuring them of my best endeavor to serve them promptly and to their satisfaction in the future. Inspection before purchasing invited.

Yours truly,

J. R. DAFOE.

Stapleton has pitched for money in the States so we are informed, Ekings and Dorocho will be the battery for Newburgh.

smothered out by Mrs. Robert Sagar, who burned her hand badly in doing so. The doctor was immediately sent for and the patient is now doing as well as could be expected. The clothes were more than half burned off the little girl before the fire was put out.

Among the Breakers.

A story of strong dramatic interest of modern life and times, interspersed with an uproariously funny comedy element composed of an Irish couple, a negro servant and a newspaper correspondent. This fine drama will be presented at the Opera House, on the evening of Tuesday, Sept. 5th, by the Dramatic Club, assisted by the well known elocutionist Miss Annie Louise Tirrell and Mr. Ferdinand Rockwell, and a fine orchestra. The interior of the Opera House has been renovated, the side walls of the auditorium calomined, the dressing rooms painted and papered and new floors laid, etc., making this cosy little hall second to none in the district. The regular season will open with the above attraction, and we have no doubt our talented amateurs will be greeted by a bumper house.

A Good Teacher Gone.

Mr. L. T. Locheed, B.A., of Queen's University (1888), M.A., with honors, in French and German (1892) of Victoria and Toronto University, who has been for the past four years a Collegiate Institute master in this city, has accepted the position of Modern Languages and Commercial Master in the new Niagara Falls Collegiate Institute at a salary of $1,050 a year. Mr. Locheed's salary was raised by the Board of Education here at the last meeting, and as he has just completed a new house at $3,000 on Grant avenue, he was not looking for a position elsewhere. However, the Principal of the new Collegiate Institute, Niagara Falls, requested Mr. L. to apply on the strength of the recommendations from the Principal, Mr. Thompson, and his fellow-teachers, Mr. Morgan. The High School inspectors, Messrs. Seath and Hodson, favored the appointment, and the School Board of Niagara Falls unanimously selected Mr. Locheed out of a host of applications. Mr. Locheed deserves great credit for the way in which he has worked himself to the front. He began as public school teacher at Napanee, and was also at Rosedale, Lincoln county. — Hamilton Times.

A Trip to Arnprior.

On Thursday last, the writer took a trip as far as Arnprior. The country from Napanee to Carleton Place via the Grand Trunk were all in want of rain, the fields being brown, while such crops as remained uncut was not in a flourishing condition. From Carleton to Arnprior plenty of rain had fallen and fields of spring wheat, oats and barley, were pleasantly green, and promising a good crop. Corn was even luxuriant in growth. The town of Arnprior, like its neighbors, is largely dependent on the lumber industry. Arnprior boasts the largest mills and yards in Canada, under one management. The occasion for the trip was a little outing by some of the members of the Eastern Ontario Press Association. On Friday some dozen or more met in Arnprior, and were invited by one of the town newspaper proprietors, Mr. J. A. Macdonald, to a dinner at Diamond Park Springs, where the pressmen had a good time for some hours. In the evening the Board of Trade of Arnprior invited the visitors to a banquet in the town hall, which was well attended, and where a bountiful spread of good things made glad the hearts of all present. During the visitors' stay in Arnprior the Mayor and Dr. Alexander were very assiduous in their attentions, showing the visitors around and making them acquainted with the leading features and people of the town and county. The pressmen present cannot but always have a warm recollection of these civilities, and a nice preferred space to say a good word for Arnprior and its merchants. Returning on Saturday by C.P.R. to Renfrew, thence by Kingston & Pembroke Ry. to the Limestone City, the way was long and the road rough, being through a very stony and broken tract. A long stay was made at Sharbot Lake for connection, and time was had to take a pretty good view of this charming sheet of water, dotted over with its 99 islands. A paradise for campers and fishermen is to be found here. From Sharbot Lake to Kingston, thence to Napanee wound up an agreeable excursion.

The Locomotive Caused a Fire.

On Wednesday after the noon train had gone north, on the B. of Q. road, fire was discovered in the dry grass just beyond the crossing near Camden East. The fire was rapidly spreading and ran across the Manion, McWilliams and Lee farms. A gang of about 40 men were put on and did terrific battle, the men beating back the flames with boughs broken off the trees. The rain came to their assistance during the night and luckily quenched the fire, saving untold damage.

Card of Thanks.

John Fleming, of Camden, to Lennox and Addington Mutual Fire Insurance Company.—I desire to express through your paper my thanks to the above Company for the very prompt and satisfactory manner in which they paid my loss of $700 by lightning on July 26th. The loss was adjusted the same day, and on August 7th, I received a cheque in payment. I cheerfully recommend our local Insurance Company to the patronage of the farmers of this county. Signed,
JOHN FLEMING,

Runaway.

On Tuesday, the horse belonging to the Frizzell Bros., of the Post Office, was tied under the shed at the Queen's hotel, when the 'Prentice Boys' excursion passed through by train. The life and drum band got off at the station and played several selections, but the music was too much for the horse and it broke its bridle and started on the run for home. Several times on the way down it was headed off, but would turn a corner and evade being caught. Luckily a broken shaft was the only result of the runaway.

Matrimonial.

At Napanee, on the 10th inst., a happy gathering took place at the residence of Mrs. McVicker, Dundas street, to witness the marriage of her daughter Maggie to Mr. William Arthur Masters, of Trenton.

St. Oswald's church, Chalk River, there is at present much rejoicing due to the fact that an organ has just been presented to the church through the exertions of the warden and their friends on the C. Morven.

This is a new station recently opened up by Rev. Mr. Dibb. It is just half way between Odessa and Nanapan. The use of the school house for the services of the church has been refused by the Chairman of School Trustees, and consequently they have to be held in the parlor of a private house which was kindly placed at their disposal by Mrs. McEwen. The results have been very encouraging, and the congregations are already too large for the parlor. Many of them have to sit outside on the verandah. Consequently they will have to build a small church at once, and it is earnestly hoped that church-people outside the mission will give their cordial help.

Mission of Ernestown.

Services for Sunday next, August 20th. Matins and Holy Eucharist at Odessa at 11 a.m. Evensong and sermon at Thorpe at 3.30 p.m., and Choral Evensong at Odessa at 7.30 p.m. with sermon on "Temperance."

Several more ladies are expected to join at the next meeting which will be held on the last Tuesday of the month, August 29th. It is also proposed to organize branches at Hawley and Thorpe in the near future. This association began about seven years ago at Ottawa with a membership of seven and now numbers some 20,000 women banded together in the love of God to do what they can by work and prayer to help the laborers in the Lord's vineyard. They are doing a noble work in a hitherto neglected sphere.

GENERAL NEWS.

Renfrew Deanery.

In this most northerly district of the Ontario Diocese these have been very marked progress in the past few years. Five new parishes have been organized, thirteen churches and five parsonages built during the past ten years. Eleven clergymen now occupy the field in which six clergymen laboured a few years ago. It is very seldom there is a vacant parish as the Rural Dean and the other clergy are in constant touch and a probable vacancy is provided for before it actually occurs, which is a great benefit to church work, avoiding as it does those too frequent interregnums which give to the careless an opportunity to wander. The stipends of the missionary clergy in this Deanery, owing to the careful supervision of the Rural Dean, approach more nearly the amount stipulated by Synod, than in any other Deanery in the Diocese.

Correction.

"It is rather late to leave the Church because of the Lincoln Judgment, but such is alleged as the reason for Rev. Reginald Shield Radcliffe accepting the pastorate of a Nonconformist chapel at Ashford. Mr. Radcliffe has had a remarkable career. He was a student at Trinity College, Toronto, from 1876-78, and in 1879 and 1880 was ordained deacon and priest by the Bishop of Niagara. He held a variety of missionary appointments in Canada, and four years ago he became Rector of All Saints', Saginaw, in the diocese of Michigan in the United States."—Church Review.

Sir,—The report in yours of the 13th (copied from the English "Church Review" of the 15th of June), asserting I had left the Church because of the late Lincoln Judgment, is of course absurdly untrue. That judgment I have thanked God for again and again, and I carry it out to the letter as far as possible. This would indeed be a sorry time to leave the Church, when even the different religious bodies round us are both in doctrine and ritual becoming more and more like us. Besides even this, in the U. S. A. alone two-thirds of our Bishops, clergy and laity have come from these religious bodies. Bishop Potter calls the two-thirds a conservative estimate. Surely those whose ancestors have been loyal priests for generations could not dream of leaving a Catholic faith for a non-Catholic; but as years go on and our Church gradually becomes all our Reformers intended her to be, we can say or sing more and more from a heart filled with of Oldwile and Rev. C. Phillips are natives of Niger country. They are scholars, administrators and explorers of no mean ability.

The Church Temperance Society has established a night lunch wagon from which laborers, who are working on New York streets all night, may be served with substantial meals at moderate prices. This will prevent many of them from going into saloons. Arrangements have been made with the city fire department to have the wagon drawn to the scene of any large fire either night or day. The firemen will be served with hot coffee and tea during the winter and with cold temperance drinks in summer.

JOINING THE CHURCH.—The Hamilton presbytery has unanimously decided to furnish the Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., of Dunnville, with a dismissary testimonial of ministerial standing up to date. This decision was the result of the Rev. Mr. MacKnight's announcing that he had resolved on retiring from the Presbyterian ministry with a view to connecting himself with the Church of England. He has stated that his action is dictated by convictions of long standing, which have grown more pronounced during the past year.

Rev. G. Reid, a Presbyterian missionary to China, who is now in the United States, has issued a remarkable pamphlet entitled "The Historic Episcopate as a basis for Church Union in China." "In this tractate, if we understand it," says the Philadelphia Presbyterian Observer, "Rev. Mr. Reid begins by surrendering the whole argument of Presbytery as against Episcopacy, to the advocates of the Historic Episcopate. He further concedes the special value of the Historic Episcopate to the restoration of unity to Christendom, and then argues that it has peculiar fitness for the organization of the Christian Church in China, which he believes should be unitedly, in form and worship, Episcopal."

The Journal of Synod is to hand and the report for the past year of the Rural Deanery of Lennox and Addington shows a healthy advance and life in each of the eight parishes of which the Deanery is composed. The 602 families in the Deanery make a church population of 2668, including 677 regular communicants. During the year there have been 255 early celebrations and 70 mid-day celebrations, 1459 services held, 95 persons baptized, 11 confirmed, 23 marriages and 59 burials. In the Deanery in the ten Sunday Schools 417 pupils have been regularly instructed by 55 teachers, of whom 17 are male and 38 females. $1,587 has been raised and expended in the purchase of buildings and other properties, $2,698.28 has been expended for clergymen's stipends by parishes and $2,714.45 for other parochial objects. There are 10 churches and 4 chapels with seating capacity of 2,434 and the total value of church properties is $87,005. The Deanery has contributed for Diocesan Missions $657, and Domestic and Foreign Missions $130.55, while the Deanery has been drawing from the Mission Fund $1,034.50, which shows that we, as a Deanery, do not support our own mission stations by a considerable amount.

Toronto, August 3.—Rev. R. MacKnight, B.A., of Dunnville, Ont., has decided to sever his connection with the Presbyterian church, with a view of connecting himself with the church of England.
